Marshall Appointment A Significant Milestone

The most outstanding expression of respect for the Negro as an equal person came Tuesday when President Lyndon B. Johnson named Thurgood Marshall to be the first Negro justice of the United States Supreme Court.

The appointment, viewed as a "restoration of the liberal margin of power" in many circles is being hailed by Negroes from all walks of life and is sure to renew Negro confidence in the national administration's faith in the Negro as an equal. But, beyond what it means to Negroes, people everywhere realize that the country can certainly benefit from the utilization of Mr. Marshall's extraordinary talents.

Marshall succeeds Justice Tom C. Clark, who announced his retirement after his son, Ramsey Clark was named attorney general.

Justice Marshall's career has been one of unprecedented achievements. In 1965, he was appointed solicitor general. He served for 23 years as chief legal counsel of the NAACP and won a widespread legal reputation in battling civil rights causes in the courts. In 1954, his biggest triumph came when he won the historic Supreme Court case declaring school segregation unconstitutional. He is one of the few attorneys to appear before the court more than 50 times as a member of the nation's highest court and as solicitor general of the United States. President John F. Kennedy, in 1962, appointed him to the U. S. Court of appeals in the District of Columbia.

Born of humble parentage, his great grandfather was a slave brought to the United States from the Congo and his father was a country club steward. His mother sold her engagement ring so he could graduate from Howard University, where he finished at the top of his law class in 1933.

We heartily commend the appointment of Mr. Marshall to the nation's highest court, for it

Riots Are An Unnecessary Evil

Hopes of many people for a "cool" summer were dashed this week and last when rioting by Negroes broke out in several spots across the country. The prelude to the rioting came from numerous disturbances on college campuses during the just completed collegiate year and from a number of national leaders of both races who predicted this summer would be a "hot" one. The latter just had to rush to become the first in their predictions so they could say, "I told you so."

To say that we deplore and regret the rioting is a mild statement that does not begin to scratch the surface of our displeasure of recent occurrences in Tampa and Clearwater, Florida, in Prattville, Alabama, in Cincinnati and Philadelphia. One wonders where the next one will be and reflects that the inhuman cry of "Get Whitey" will serve only to bathe the present revolution for human rights in degradation and shame.

It is true that the power structures of the cities and of this nation have not done enough to accept the Negro as a first class citizen. It is true that the Negro has lived almost all his American history bathed in the shame forced upon him by white America's unwillingness to assure him the same opportunities as other Americans.

We do not believe the Negro has to "earn" first class status. The very fact that he is a native-born American, like so many others, is enough to accord him that privilege at birth. There should be no question about it. We also do not intend to "Uncle Tom" for any mantle of acceptance and justice. We shall continue to hammer away at injustice, but a dramatization of this hammering by destroying property is not the answer.

We urge white Americans, therefore, to erase all injustices and to live by the Golden Rule. We urge Negro Americans to calm their emotions, think before acting and then act with restraint. We must not drag ourselves down to a point of no return.

These riots are, in spite of all the injustice, an unnecessary evil and we should not give anyone the excuse they want to postpone the day of ultimate victory.

Replace The Entire Board

Recent "gems of judgment" by members of the three-man State Board of Pardon and Paroles have not only ballooned into sorry episodes, but they have also pungently portrayed a serious lack of common sense on the part of some state leaders. If our leadership from top to bottom is not sound, then Georgia will never be.

Not too many people were stirred when John R. "Fats" Hardy, concocter of poison moonshine that resulted in some 30-odd deaths and numerous permanent injuries, was released after eight parole hearings. But, when two gamblers were released under questionable circumstances a few months after their confinement, things began popping. Numerous other irregularities began to show.

The icing for the sour cake came a couple of weeks ago when the Pardons and Paroles Board broke one of its own rules to release an inmate so he could leave for surgery in Louisiana that officials say "any qualified orthopedic surgeon could do."

represents a significant milestone in American democracy and justice. We are certain that the appointment of this rare legal mind will add distinguished legal experience to the court by a man who has devoted himself to the principles of justice.

A Critical Need For Foster Parents

Because of the great need for foster homes in Fulton County, the Department of Family and Children Services is appealing to the citizens of the county to open the doors of their homes to children who will otherwise be denied the love, the guidance, and the security of a home.

Presently, there are 978 children in foster care placement, and they are under the supervision of the Fulton County Department of Family and Children Services. It is the responsibility of this department to place these children and also to offer counsel to the families involved. In many instances this counsel helps families to reunite on a more stable, adequate and self-supporting basis.

Unfortunately, this vital community work cannot continue without more foster homes. While the number of children in foster care has doubled within the last five years, the number of foster homes has remained fairly constant. Of the 978 children presently in foster care, 136 are placed in institutions and the other 842 are placed in 264 foster homes. An additional 23 children are in the Fulton County Juvenile Court Shelter Area; they need immediate placement.

High on the list of critical needs are homes for infants and teenagers. Infants are usually placed in a foster home when approximately five days old and remain there until placed in a permanent adoptive home.

Because of the temporary nature of the foster care program, many people are reluctant to become foster parents. Separation from children whom they have learned to love and cherish as their own must be difficult. Nevertheless, there are many foster parents who feel that the satisfaction derived from giving to a child and seeing him into a healthy, happy person, far outweighs the pain of saying goodbye.

Persons desiring to know more about the foster children should call the Homefinding Unit, Fulton County Department of Family and Children Services—572-2655.

Six Flags, A Welcome Addition

A lot of adults will get a childlike feeling when they visit what is destined to become one of Georgia's leading attractions as Six Flags Over Georgia opens officially this weekend. Children will certainly be permanently enthused over Six Flags whose major lure will be the numerous rides.

The $12 million, seventy-acre amusement park becomes Atlanta's answer to Disneyland for amusement right at home. It will, most assuredly, boost the economy of this area and join a number of other attractions that will make Atlanta THE place to live, work and play.

Georgia's Six Flags is the son of Six Flags Over Texas. The decision to locate "the son of Six Flags" here in 1965 resulted in what is believed to be the biggest land deal ever made east of the Mississippi. Six Flags Over Georgia will serve as a corporate adjunct to an industrial district, the Great South-west Industrial Park, a three thousand acre development located across the Chattahoochee River in Fulton County. Atlantans and tourists will discover it on I-20 West.

Our new amusement center, expected to attract some 1,200,000 visitors during its major season of June-August, acquires its name from six sectors depicting Georgia's past under six different flags: (1) An English village, (2) a confederate campground, (3) a Spanish fort embracing a fun house, (4) a boat ride on "alligator infested" waters recalling the French influence, (5) an early Georgia settlement, and (6) a "House of Tomorrow" under the American flag.

This enchanted world of fun and history is a welcomed addition to the Atlanta area, specifically, and to all Georgians, Georgia, always highly prized for her natural riches, is again enriched with the revelation of its history through this incomparable endeavor.

Numerous irregularities began to show that included, of all things, "a family plan" for paroles.

The action releasing the inmate for surgery has been revoked, but in the shadow of it comes the revelation that State Corrections Director Asa Kelley played an essential role in the medical reprieve of the inmate. Secrecy was placed on the report by Atty. Gen. Arthur Bolton revealing Kelley arranged the reprieve along with Lt. Gov. Peter Zack Geer.

If this is rehabilitation, then the American Eagle is a buzzard and common sense is a corpse.

We'll spare you the gory details juicily served up by news media and get on with our opinion: Replace the whole board!

Ernestly Speaking

By ERNEST M. PHARR

Dear Ole Dad

That guy who, supposedly, wears the pants in his household becomes King for a Day Sunday when the lovely people for whom he toils, often night and day, honor him on Father's Day. For obvious reasons, Dad, like Mom, deserves the glowing tributes graciously and sincerely offered.

It may not be safe to say that Dads are more misunderstood than the proverbial misunderstood woman, but we'll say it anyway. Much of the reason why is concerned with the fact that some sage said long ago a mother's primary creative interest is her children while the father's is in what he produces from his work that he hopes makes a knight at home. This, by no means, should be construed to say that fathers are not interested in the maturation of their offsprings.

But the fellow being honored Sunday is, most certainly, more ridiculed than anything else on earth, politicians excepted.

Whether Dad deserves to be so ridiculed is debatable, although much of the ridicule comes from man himself. Little could or would be solved from any debate on the subject, for Dad's status depends on what he is to his family. And the support, or lack of support, he gets from them in encouraging him to "reach for the stars" in his career can make or break him. In turn, it can cause a tense home atmosphere and make or break the family.

What dad is and is not came to mind this week as we searched and searched for a literary testament to him. (We'll leave it to you to let us know how your search came out.) There are literary pieces to women, to children, to towns, to dogs, to cats and even to shirts, but almost nothing written to father. That that is written about him is often bathed in comedy and satire. Perhaps this can be attributed to the facts there are more male authors than female and the female is not as prone to "wear her heart on her sleeve," glorifying the male as Poe, Browning, Shakespeare and others have done for the female.

In one poem, returning to our earlier point of ridicule, Dad is laughed at by mother and children because "he couldn't carve a duck." In another, a poet says, "Ask Daddy, he won't know." Are the faults of others equally glorified?

Dad is often chastised by his children who thought he did not know enough as Mark Twain, who wrote, "When I was a boy of fourteen, my father was so ignorant I would hardly stand to have the old man around. But when I got to be twenty-one, I was astonished at how much the old man had learned in seven years."

The sorest point about Dad concerns the work he does that keeps him away from the home fires. In Henry Clay Work's, "Father, Dear Father, Come Home With Me," a child begs her father to come home because her brother, Bennie, is dying and "You said you were coming right home from the shop, as soon as your day's work was done." At three in the morning, the father was still at work and Bennie was dead.

And, perhaps, this is the story of all fathers who strive, through their work, to be not just the family bread, but also fame, glory and honor to those he wants most to recognize him as his hero. Although we know of no father who would neglect their "Bennies" to that extreme, the poem does reveal a father's nagging belief that the man who does not produce something is nothing.

This is what the female cannot understand and Dad cannot explain. And the words just won't fall into place to effectively explain it here. Perhaps Dads can ease their mental anguish in knowing that the family carries their name and the example must be set so that that name will be long remembered as having passed through life—meaningful, productively.

TO DAD ON HIS DAY

I know that you don't care for
Such things as fame and praise;
But, DAD, you've earned the right to them
In many, many ways.

For teaching me the value
Of hard and honest work,
And showing me the duties
No man should ever shirk;
For reprimanding, punishing
A boy made mischief's fool,

And teaching him to live life
By the well-known Golden Rule;
For all the things you've said,
And things you didn't say,
For handling life's problems
In your own special way;
You've earned the praises, DAD,
And you deserve the fame;
Without you, Dad, I realize
Life wouldn't be the same.

Eastside Notes...

The Edgewood CNAC, at its regular meeting June 12, okayed a resolution to be sent to Mayor Allen and other city officials stating that Edgewood is ready to move ahead immediately with the proposed urban and community redevelopment program. It was stated that it is time to let city hall know that its program will get a better reception in Edgewood than it has recently in several other Atlanta neighborhoods. The Council also had the privilege of meeting Edward Williams, new City Hall-Community Coordinator for Edgewood, who urged that all problems relating to city services be brought to him for action. Mr. Williams is located at the Edgewood EOA Center, 1723 Blvd. Dr., S.E., telephone 378-3643.

The Walker Park Citizens Organization reports that its block party last Friday evening netted over $50 which will be used for improving the park program. Another activity will be scheduled in the near future to push the total even higher. The citizens wish to thank the following donors: Bill Rogers and the Bailey Theater Co., D. D. Brimer and the Coca-Cola Co., Rufus Favers and the C&R Grocery, Mr. Buck and the Daffodil Food Co., Jack Armstrong and the Colonial Bakery, and Zenas Sears and WAOK. They also wish to welcome to the community Miss Ward and Mr. Nevett, who are staffing the park this summer.

The Wesley Community School announces the opening this week of a special afternoon and early evening recreation program at the Murphy High Gymnasium. Open to both teenage boys and girls, the program features all types of games and recreational activities under the supervision of a trained staff. All teens are invited to come by and sign up now. All parents are urged to visit the gymnasium and see what progress is being made to make the Eastside the best in the city.

Home sewing is one of the best ways a wife and mother can save the family budget and get a lot of satisfaction from serving her family. Do you know how to sew? If not, why not arrange to enroll in one of the sewing classes now being offered by the Edgewood EOA Center. Adult classes are scheduled each Tuesday and Thursday 10:00 a.m. until 12:30 p.m., and 5:00 p.m. until 7:00 p.m. Now a special class for future homemakers is also being formed. All young ladies are invited to come to the Center each Tuesday and Thursday from 3:00 p.m. until 5:00 p.m. There is no charge for these classes and machines are provided. If you need transportation, call Mrs. Sullivan at 378-3643.

The Golden Age Club regrets the recent death (June 10) of Mrs. Ophelia Batten, wife of the late Deacon Simon Batten. Services were held at the Community Baptist Church on June 14. Deacon Batten, until his untimely death in February, had been a faithful and enthusiastic member of the Golden Age Club. The club will meet again this coming Monday, June 19, 2:00 p.m. at the Edgewood EOA Center. Plans are now being made for a trip to Stone Mountain in the near future. Anyone interested in joining is invited to attend a meeting and enjoy the going to finance special interest trips for the club.

The Blvd. Dr.-Montgomery Club will meet Sunday, June 18, 6:00 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Seats, 1416 Blvd. Dr., N.E.

Mrs. Martha Williams, 89 Wyman St., S.E., will host a community party sponsored by the Southeast Progressive Club. The party will feature special games and prizes, and refreshments will be served. All neighbors and friends are invited.

The Moreland Heights Civic Club will meet at the home of Mrs. A. L. Pace, 1261 Hardee St., N.E., 8:00 p.m., Monday evening, June 19.

The home of Mrs. Sarah Mapp, 15 Wyman St., N.E., will be the site of the next meeting of the Wyman St. (NE) Community Club, Tuesday evening, June 20, 8:00 p.m.

The Edgewood EOA Community Club will meet at the Edgewood EOA Center the evening of Thursday, June 22, 8:00 p.m.

NOTE TO ALL CITIZENS: Warm weather and long evening daylight hours often keep us away from club meetings. But the problems of your community go on, and perhaps even increase. Your neighbors need your help. Join support and attend the club meetings in your neighborhood.

Firing Of Negro Teacher Prompts Protest Action

'They Had A Grudge Against Him'

BARNESVILLE, Ga., -- (SCLC)--The sudden firing of a respected and experienced Negro teacher who spoke out against inadequate education of Negroes in Lamar County, Georgia, led to direct civil rights action here this week.

Hundreds of Negro citizens held mass rallies and marched in Barnesville each day since Tuesday in protest against poor schools, economic hardship, constant discrimination, and mistreatment of black people.

The campaign was launched by a cross-section of Negro community leaders in this county, working with the Lamar County Voters League and assisted by a field organizer on special assignment from the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

In addition to holding the marches and rallies, the Negro leaders made plans for withdrawal of patronage by Negro customers at downtown stores, a program of better jobs and economic development of the Negro community, a full share in available federal projects such as Operation Headstart for deprived pre-school children, and a continuing demand for the rehiring of the school teacher.

The new freedom movement was born at the end of May, when Mr. G.W. Cogdell, a Negro teacher with 18 years' experience and three college degrees, was denied a renewal of his contract at Booker High School in Lamar County.

School officials failed to give a reasonable explanation for the firing of Mr. Cogdell, but it is well known in the county that he made some authorities unhappy by pointing out the substandard education forced upon Negro school children in Lamar County.

Just a few days after the firing of Mr. Cogdell, Negro citizens collected 510 signatures on a petition supporting him, commending his personal conduct and distinguished service as a teacher, and demanding that his contract be renewed.

Local Negro leaders noted that the public schools of Lamar County have only a token amount of integration because of intimidation of Negro applicants at white schools. They protested that the school system is lacking in quality, and said that most Negro high school students in Barnesville are subjected to the extra indignity of traveling by bus past the predominantly white Gordon High School in this city to the Booker High location out in the county.

The Negro community is now demanding full integration of the public schools, immediate improvements in education at all county schools, and an equal voice in selection of teachers and other policy questions.

Leaders of the civil rights campaign include Mr. Amos Whatley, president of the Lamar County Voters League; Mr. F.M. Few, businessman; Mr. Charlie Sutton, a grocer; Mr. Pierce Richardson, a merchant; and Mr. Charley Mays, a farmer; as well as several clergymen.

Hosea L. Williams, Director of the SCLC Department of Voter Registration and Political Education and a top associate of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., assigned Rev. Richard Boone to Barnesville. Rev. Boone has wide experience as a civil rights organizer in the South. He and local leaders are now organizing an official Affiliate chapter of SCLC in Lamar County.

Amos Whatley, president of the Lamar County Voters League, told the Inquirer this week, "They fired one of the best ones they had out there. He always was a man who was a big help to the poor Negroes in this city. Somehow, they had a grudge against him."

Institute At Clark Focusing On School Desegregation Problems

40 Negro and white school counselors from Georgia and Alabama began this week a five-week training institute dealing with problems of school desegregation. The Institute is being conducted at Clark College.

According to Dr. Jonathan Jackson of the Clark Faculty, who will direct the Federally-funded institute, the counselors will be trained to cope with school problems arising from desegregation. A major objective will be to develop what Dr. Jackson called "the necessary sensitivity" to recognize problems in human relations.

Consultants will include Dr. Jean Noble of the Center for Human Relations Studies at New York University, Dr. Darwin Turner of North Carolina A and T College, Dr. J.

Mason Brewer of Livingstone College, Dr. Ina Corinne Brown of Scarritt College, Dr. Bruce Rosen of the Anti-Defamation League in Atlanta, Dr. Wiley J. Bolden of the Southeastern Education Laboratory, Vernon Jordan of Southern Regional Council, Georgia State Representative Benjamin Brown, and Clark President Vivian W. Henderson.

To Be Young Again

Thousands of Atlanta school children dashed out of school last week, extremely elated over the "no more books and no more teacher's dirty looks." As one watches the carefree attitude exhibited by the younger ones, one wishes to be young again and able to romp around the house with a minimum of responsibility and the headaches that come with such responsibility.

Children are "battering up their Dads" for Father's Day so they may enjoy the many attractions of fun and amusement that have come the city's way recently. Summer is a time for fun for them and we hope they enjoy it immensely. For, almost much too soon, they will sprout in maturity beyond our dreams and assume the mantle of adulthood in a world that is becoming too much for us all.

CLUB CINDERELLAS was recently entertained by personable, charming Gwen Hicks at her lovely Baker Road residence. The business session of the meeting was spent making plans for their dance next year and their annual bar-b-que for husbands and sweethearts to be held the latter part of July at the West Manor Drive home of club member Ruth Freeman. After the business session, cocktails and a delectable menu made a delightfully swinging evening.

Enjoying the many courtesies extended to out-of-towners when they dropped in our city were Miss Barbara Epps and brother, David, from Talbotton. Barbara and David were stopping with aunt, Mrs. Mattie Childs, at her Second Avenue residence.

Jetting to sunny California on Monday were popular school teacher Evelyn Askew and son, Keith Denard, who will spend two or three weeks playing on the beach and viewing the sights while visiting her aunt, Mrs. A.M. Hart, and cousins. Several affairs have been planned to insure Evelyn and Keith a pleasurable visit.

Several courtesies have been extended bride-elect Dorothy Virginia Wideman, who will become the bride of Macauley Joel Washburn on Sunday, June 18 at Wheat Street Baptist Church at half after the hour of six o'clock. Among the parties, dinners and showers given was a lovely lingerie shower given by Mrs. Jacquelyn Brown and Mrs. Juanita Scott on the latter's lawn, June 9.

The color scheme of the bride-to-be (blue and white) was carried out to the most minute detail. A garden of blue and white flowers with picket fence encompassed the lawn. A beautifully covered umbrella enhanced a table laden with many exquisitely wrapped gifts. A quite palatable menu captivated the guests with its uniqueness in carrying out the theme of the occasion with an umbrella cake being the focal point. As the guests listened to music and chatted, a variety of entertainment kept them all quite occupied.

The guests included Mesdames Florence Hogan, Gwendolyn Hicks, Mary Grayson, Prudence Bussey, William Allen, Bessie Claboun, Fannie Woodard, Fannie Leary, Marie Blake, Gaiel Hanley, Ruth Crawford and Wilene Wideman; Misses Irene Henderson, Patricia McClendon and Jeanette Bridges.

Mr. Sidney Dennis served as the efficient photographer of the evening.

Best wishes for a speedy recovery to Mrs. Ruby Perry, who has been hospitalized following an accident. Cards may reach her at McClendon Hospital, Room 9, or at her home, 263 Barfield Avenue, S.W. Mrs. Perry is a supply teacher for the Atlanta Board of Education.

Our deepest sympathy is extended to the family of Mrs. A. L. (Sarah Payne) Jessie of Chappell Rd. Mrs. Jessie, who passed Monday, was a teacher at Forrest Elementary School. Condolences are also sent to the family of Rev. A. A. Hightower of Poole Creek Rd., S.E. Rev. Hightower, for many years pastor of Cosmopolitan A.M.E. Church, passed Monday.

THE CARDETTE'S BRIDGE CLUB closed out their yearly activities with a very colorful, picturesque and long-to-be remembered Hawaiian Luau on Friday night, June 9.

The setting for the gay affair was the beautiful patio, back lawn and playroom at the well-appointed residence of the John Richard Johnsons (Agnes Johnson) of Aline Drive. The Hawaiian decor was carried out in the dress of the members and guests, the props and centerpieces and the very delicious menu which was another masterpiece in culinary art of club member Gladys Clark as well as that of Mr. Robert Grantley.

Each guest was welcomed and presented a lei and after a delightful evening of feasting, playing cards, dancing and chatting, aloha was said.

The Cardettes are Juanita Bryant, Teresa Bentley, Myrtice Lackey, Gladys Clark, Edith Grantley, Fannie Hughes, Agnes Johnson, Myrtle Kelly, Herlene McMillan, Ruby Moore, Lena Sharpe and Mary Walton.

Miss Earlovetta Dabney celebrated her second birthday with a party on Sunday, June 11, 1967, with some friends and neighbors. Earlovetta is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dabney of 290 Bowen Circle, Apartment 4, S.W. Helping her celebrate were Nefertiti Booker, Michael Burney, twins; Derrick and Deborah Cowan, Terris Jenkins, Edye McMichael, Barbara Strong, Muriel Tuggle and Valerie Waddell. Accompanying the children were Mesdames: Jackie Burney Betty Cowan, Cora Jenkins, Jacqueline McMichael, Velma Strong, Ossie Tuggle, Ruth Waddell and Mademoiselle Sallie Booker with her niece.

Pictures and a movie of the gay affair were made by her mother, Madame Betty Lovett Dabney. Assisting with the party were Earlovetta's maternal grandmother, Madame Mamie Sewell and neighbor, Master Kenneth Harris.

Claude Gary, Jr., was elected President of ESQUIRES, INC. for the 1967-68 Calendar year. He succeeds George Gray. Mr. Gary is a postal employee and an internal revenue consultant. He takes over the helm of the 26-member organization at the zenith of the most successful year in the history of the men's club.

Leroy Burse, Jr. was elected vice president. Other officers elected were Howard Gay, secretary; Julius Green, financial secretary; James Partridge, treasurer; Albert Taylor, business manager; Thomas Reid, recording secretary; and Marion E. Jackson, Sr., director of public relations.

Towns Family Honored At AU Library Exhibit

Atlanta University has chosen to recognize "The Towns Tradition" with an exhibit in the Trevor Arnett Library foyer during the Commencement season and the month of June. Mrs. Nellie McNeil Towns and Dr. Myron Bumstead Towns died in May, 1967; they were mother and son, respectively, of the late George A. Towns, long-time professor at Atlanta University.

The creativity, concern, and citizenship of the Towns Family are emphasized in the exhibit, which includes the George A. Towns Collection, donated to the Library in 1965 by Mrs. Grace Towns Hamilton, daughter of George A. Towns and Representative of the General Assembly of Georgia and a Trustee of Atlanta University. The Collection consists of over five hundred items which include manuscripts, pictures, clippings, programs, periodicals and other publications.

Mr. Towns was a prolific writer and his concern as a student, teacher, employee, and alumnus of Atlanta University was the University itself. There are many letters from his friends reflecting his loyalty, such as those from James Weldon Johnson and from Mr. Towns' Harvard classmates of 1900, who gave funds to the University through him. He gained national recognition for his one-man voter registration campaign in Atlanta in 1944.

Myron Bumstead Towns was a highly respected chemistry teacher, who earned the Ph. D. degree at the University of Michigan. At the time of his death, he was serving on the Chemistry Department faculty at Fisk University, Nashville, Tennessee.

Mrs. Towns is perhaps remembered first for her concern for others. Her most outstanding contributions were made to the Gate City Day Nurseries and the Phyllis Wheatley YWCA.

Grace Towns Hamilton (Mrs. Henry Cooke) was the first Negro woman to be elected to the Georgia General Assembly. She has also been cited for her work as Executive Director of the Atlanta Urban League and of the Atlanta Youth Council.

The University feels it is appropriate to honor such a distinguished family, which has contributed so much to Atlanta University and to mankind at a time when attention is being given to the weaknesses of the Negro American family.

33 NYC Evening School Grads Feted At Banquet

Thirty-three evening high school graduates, members of the Economic Opportunity Atlanta, Inc., Neighborhood Youth Corps (Out-of-School) program were honored at a banquet Wednesday, June 14. The banquet festivities were held at the Marriott Hotel, Hermitage East Room.

Speaker for the occasion was State Senator Leroy Johnson. Mrs. Francine Shannon, NYC counselor, was the Mistress of Ceremonies. Others participating on the program included Mr. Henry Pace, NYC Director, Miss Claire Underwood, NYC counselor, and Mr. Maxey Smith, NYC enrollee. Other EOA, city and state officials were also present.

Mr. Henry Pace said, "We feel that this accomplishment deserves recognition because the NYC enrollees who dropped out of school have realized, through their NYC work experience, the need for continuing their education." He added that this is one of the main objectives of the program.

The NYC out-of-school program is a job training program for youths between the ages of 16 and 21 who have dropped out of school, year operation.

The NYC enrollees being honored are: Mary Brown,

Jacquelyn Byron, Gloria Cotton, Clydine Dallas, Bobbie J. Daniels, Myrtis English, Priscilla Fambro, Joann Flint, Ruby Fortson, Annie Glanton, Johnnie M. Green, Glenda Hale, Sharon Wilkey Hill, Ira Holloway, Mildred Holloway, Mary Hurt, Gayle Jones, Mable Martin, Arlene Miller, Doris Montgomery, Mattie Moody, Bonnie Pulliam, Joann Raines, Loretta Richardson, Edith Sidney, Maxey Smith, Annie Stillwell, Nellie Scott, Sadie Smith, Mattie Weaver, Joann Wyatt and Elaine Smith.

WRONG WAY STREET ... Two young girls look puzzled by a sign posted along a street in Annapolis, Md. Are they walking the wrong way? — Well, the ladies were okay, the sign is really a warning to motorists. It's a new way to designate a "one-way" street in this city.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

A SMILE

"Give me a smile, and I'll pay the price."

What would you pay for a smile? When someone you know and love is blue or despondent, how much effort would you exert to put just a small measure of sunshine into their life?

You can't place a price upon a smile, no more than you can upon happiness.

Yet, doesn't it make you stop and think for a moment? You can give a smile, for free. It costs you nothing. It is hardly a strenuous physical effort. You can wear a smile the entire day, without tiring.

Try it. Offer a smile to the world, every step of the way. You may find that, while it is difficult to buy a smile, it is sometimes possible to get one for free.

Brown-Skinned Christ On Sale in Detroit

DETROIT -- A painting of a handsome, brown-skinned Christ will go on sale in the Detroit area this week, produced by a Negro-owned company that claims it has no axes to grind.

"We are on no campaign to convince people they ought to get rid of the other pictures of Christ they have," said Atty. O. LeeMolette, spokesman for The House of Songhay, producers of the picture. "After all, God is spirit and must be worshipped in spirit and in truth. People must be free to worship Christ as they see him personally."

"What most people do not realize, however, is that all of the pictures of Christ seen today were drawn hundreds of years after the time of Christ. The Christ pictured in Da Vinci's 'Last Supper,' for instance, which is almost certainly the best known and most influential, was drawn 1,500 years after the crucifixion. It was drawn using Italian -- not Galilean -- models."

"But in recent years," Molette said, "a number of American artists have begun painting Christ black, just as artists did for centuries in other parts of the world. The House of Songhay intends to produce the best of these paintings so that people may have them to hang in their homes. 'The True and Living Christ' by Edward M. Broom is our first such production."

The House of Songhay is named after a black empire that flourished in Africa's Sudan during the Middle Ages. The company claims that its brown-skinned Christ is a truer picture of what Christ looked like than the other pictures available today.

Adventures In Good Cooking

By Cliff Brooks
HEAD CHEF,
B. B. BEAMON'S RESTAURANT

Man's Favorite Indoor Sport

Let's not fool ourselves -- the average man's favorite indoor sport is attacking a thick juicy steak, armed only with knife and fork. If not steak, then some other kind of meat, but meat, he will tell you is his dish.

Life would be a lot simpler for the family cook if cows were all made of porterhouse steak and "T" Bones, but there are those utility cuts of not so tender meat from which most of us must choose, in order to make our meat money last until the next pay-day.

You will find that my recipes are largely for cheaper cuts of meat in order to save the family budget. The flavor is just as good as that of more expensive cuts.

Cook the tougher cuts slowly, with moist heat to break down the connective tissues and you'll get something perfectly tender and yummy from your economy cut. A tablespoon or so of vinegar or wine added to the meat at the beginning of the cooking period helps tenderize the meat.

Store fresh meat in the coldest part of your refrigerator. Unwrap it before storing, because meat has to "Breathe" to stay at its best. Use variety meats like kidneys, liver, more perishable than other fresh meats.

PORK CHOPS HUNGARIAN STYLE

Pork Chops delicately seasoned with paprika and caraway seeds -- that's the way the Hungarians like them. The preparation is simple and there's no long list of expensive ingredients.

Dip chops in flour and brown on both sides in a little hot fat seasoned with salt and pepper, then sprinkle with paprika until quite red, scatter caraway seed over the chops and pour 1/2 cup of water around them, cover skillet and simmer until tender, about one hour. Add small quantities of water during cooking to keep chops from frying out. (Pork shoulder steaks may be prepared in this same way.)

Try serving this with Baked Georgia fresh peaches, broccoli with Hollandaise Sauce. (Especially good for your Bridge Club Party).

Boone NAMD President-Elect

casion followed the conclusion of the 14th annual conference of the National Association of Market Developers held at the Rice Hotel in Houston, Texas, on May 16 - 20, 1967. The 1968 Convention is scheduled for the Regency Hyatt Hotel in Atlanta, Georgia.

'Sorry, Wrong Number' Running At AU Theatre

The Atlanta University Summer Theatre will open its thirty-fourth season with "Sorry, Wrong Number" by Lucille Fletcher. Presentations will be made Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, June 15, 16 and 17, at 8:00 p.m. in the Fine Arts Building on Spelman College campus.

"Chain of Jade," a children's play, presented for children by children, will be given at matinees at 10:00 a. m. on June 15, 16 and 17. Arrangements can be made with the director, Dr. Burroughs, for large groups of students to attend by telephoning 523-1340.

say Dad... ever wonder how Mom got the money

Come Sunday morning, will you be one of the millions of fathers who are forever amazed?

Will you look at your new fishing reel or power tool or camera...
and wonder:

"How did Mom get the money?"

You'll know she didn't rob a bank...
and she didn't sell the car.

Maybe, just maybe,
we can give you a hint.

Is Mom an A&P shopper?
Could it be that the savings
she makes each week of the year
add up to so much?

Why not ask her?

Before you do though,
better take a quick look in the garage to make sure the car's still there.

A Few Steps For Boxing Fans

I wish that I had been there with former heavyweight champion Muhammad (Cassius Clay) All that day in May when he refused to step forward and be inducted into the army of these United States. It probably wouldn't have done any good, but I wish that I had been there to give it the old "school boy try." Who knows? I might have persuaded him to step forward.

You see, I'm a boxing fan from way back. Before there was television—I said way back—I used to listen to the fights on the radio. Almost everyone I knew listened to the fights on the radio. We used to crowd around the radio as though some member of the family or some hometown boy was fighting for the glory of our town. Most of all, though, it was "The Brown Bomber," Joe Louis, who kept us sitting around the radio and picturing in our minds every blow that the announcer relayed to us. We suffered with Joe until he finally caught up with Billy Conn, who almost bicycled himself to the championship. We sat silently until the ring announcer said, "The Winnah, and still heavyweight champion of the world -- Joe Louis!" Even if we already knew it, we waited.

When I was in College, I saw my first fight on television. Actually, I saw my first "anything" on television, but this is about fights. One of the highlights of the fight program was the showing of old films of the "Fights of the Century." I got a chance to see Louis in action for the first time, and he was just as great as I had "heard" he was.

Friday was a big night in the dormitory, not only for me, but for a lot of other guys who must have been fight fans, too. We used to get downstairs to the lounge about 9:00 p.m. to get a good seat for the fight which started at 10:00 p.m. Coca-Colas were still a nickel, but the friends who got there early would split a coke and save a nickel for a "fight" coke. Then they would check the cigarette situation and, if butts (cigarettes) were scarce, they would use the "Share - the-Smoke-Plan" saying one or two to calm their nerves during the excitement of a bout. We didn't give a hoot who was fighting. Friday night was our night to watch the fights. It could be Chuck Davey, the southpaw without the punch, Jersey Joe Walcott, the battler who always seemed to be pulling his trunks up, or Tiger Jones, who seemed to have a personal contract with the television industry stating that he had to fight on TV every two weeks. If Sugar Ray Robinson was scheduled, we would go down at 8:00 p.m.

When they took the weekly fight off television, a lot of my friends and I had to change our schedules to take care of the Friday night void. Then the powers that were saw fit to take the championship fights off TV, too, and move them into the movie houses. "Closed circuit TV" was upon us.

Oh, well, we thought, closed circuit TV is better than no TV at all. Then Floyd Patterson, who was already receiving an enormous amount of money for a few minutes work, really got himself a raise in pay by suffering two quick knockouts.

Somewhere in between all this, Joe Louis lost his title, unsuccessfully tried to regain it, lost, and eventually retired. Rocky Marciano retired undefeated. Through it all, I remained a loyal boxing fan. There were few good fighters, but I remained loyal through the clinches, the fouls, and the mismatches. Then came that day in May when Cassius or Muhammad, refused to step forward. Now he has been stripped of his title and it is up for grabs. Names like Terrell, Mathis, and Ellis are among those mentioned as possible successors to Ali, but they don't mean a thing—not to the boxing fan.

Sure wish Muhammad had taken those steps.

FATHERS OF THE YEAR

ELSTON HOWARD and DICK VAN DYKE

New York Yankees' star Elston Howard and motion picture star Dick Van Dyke beam after being named "Sports Father of the Year," and "Screen Father of the Year," respectively, by the National Father's Day Committee. Between them, they are the fathers of seven children. Howard is now in his 15th season as a star catcher for the New York Yankees baseball team, and Van Dyke is starring in the Columbia Pictures' Comedy, "Divorcee American Style."

Howard and Van Dyke are both interested in youth activities in addition to their responsibilities as fathers. On Father's Day, June 18, the Howard youngsters, Elston, Jr., 11, Cheryl, 8, and Karen, 7; and the Van Dyke Children, Christian, 15, Barry, 13, Stacey, 10, and Carrie Beth, 4, will be very proud of the fact that millions of Americans will share their pride in their outstanding fathers.

Grambling Tigers Stir Local Interest

Former Atlanta Prep Star, Braves Draft Pick On Team

Atlanta Braves fans have more than passing interest in a baseball team from Louisiana. That team is the Grambling College Tigers, which this year rolled to a 35-1 season chart, and which is considered by many "one of the greatest collections of college players ever assembled."

There are actually two reasons for Atlanta's interest. The first reason is that Robert Atkins, a three-sport star at Atlanta's Price High School, is listed among the starters, all of whom are batting over .300. The other reason is Ralph Garr, a third-round draft choice of the Atlanta Braves who bats left, throws right, and goes from home plate to first base in 3.5 seconds bunting. Garr led the Tigers and the nation in batting with a fantastic .485 batting average. Atkins finished with a .331 average.

The Tigers combined lousy hitting and pinpoint pitching in breezing to the Southwestern Athletic Conference and NAIA Area Five championships. The final NAIA statistics revealed that they have a .355 team batting average to accompany an 0.88 combined ERA for the pitching staff.

Frank Patterson (.308), Bob Williams (.413), John Thomas (.340), Mike Cummings (.353), Ben Williams (.375), Matthew Alexander

(.357), Alfred Gipson (.347), and Victor Tweedle (.384), in addition to Garr and Atkins, all contributed greatly toward making Grambling a powerful baseball machine. Patterson, Alexander, and the two Williams boys, are considered outstanding bonus prospects.

Leading the pitching staff is lefty Jimmie Jackson who registered an 0.79 ERA for 89 innings and finished with an 11-1 chart; he struck out 136 batters. Other pitching standouts were Charles Jones (8-0), Roy Maine (7-0), and Terry Washington (7-0).

Tommie Agee of the Chicago White Sox, last year's Rookie-of-the-Year, is a former Grambling College Star.

WOULD YOU BELIEVE

Clete Boyer, Atlanta Braves third-sacker, was ill when he started the game against Philadelphia Wednesday night, but he hit his first grand slam homer since joining the Braves?

Bill Russell, who now earns more than $100,000 annually as a player-coach with the Boston Celtics, hopes that his son will choose a more serious vocation?

Jim Ray, a 22-year-old right-handed pitcher in the Astros system, was sold to the Mets on a conditional deal this spring, but was returned because the Mets didn't think he would ever make it? Ray had won 8 of his first 9 games at Amarillo in the Texas League, posting an ERA of 1.00.

Houston Astros fans have written numerous letters requesting a later starting time for games in the Astrodome since daylight saving time went into effect?

In 1926, Tiger Flowers became the first Negro middleweight champion when he outpointed Harry Gibbs to win at the Chicago Coliseum?

Stan Musial was the National League batting champion from 1950 to 1952?

SIX FLAGS

initiate and maintain a cash flow into the Atlanta area that will constitute a major economic gain in itself, and will stimulate even greater gains through the adjacent industrial park.

With some 1.5 million visitors expected in SIX FLAGS Over Georgia's 1967 premiere season, 2 million annually thereafter, Wynne says the park will bring into the Atlanta-area economy annually over $6 million out-of-state tourist dollars, about $2 million in local contracted services, some 1,200 new jobs for college students with a $1 million payroll and some $4.5 million from outside-Atlanta Georgia residents who will visit the park.

The prominence and popularity of SIX FLAGS Over Georgia will also benefit development of the adjacent Great Southwest Industrial Park of Atlanta. Within five years, Wynne states, the industrial park will bring the Atlanta area 150 new industries, $100 million in construction and equipment, $50 million a year in new salaries, 10,000 new employees, 10 million square feet of new buildings and $2 million a year in new taxes. Within 15 years the Great Southwest Industrial Park of Atlanta is expected to have contributed 500 new industries, $500 million in new buildings and equipment, $250 million a year in wages and $10 million a year in taxes to its home region.

So starting from whole-some family fun on a grand scale, SIX FLAGS Over Georgia is the first jewel in a fabulous amusement-industrial diadem that will soon light up the economic sky all over the southeastern United States.

STILL WANTS TO PITCH

Satch Claims Race Denies Him Pension

From The Michigan Chronicle

LeRoy (Satchel) Paige, who is still active at the age of 65, said in an interview in Richmond, Va., that the only reason he still was not pitching for a major league club is because of his color.

Paige is battling to be signed for at least two weeks with a major league club so he'll be eligible for a five-year pension. "What other reason could there be? asks the aged pitcher.

Reminded that Sandy Amoros, the ex-Dodger outfielder who recently was able to leave Cuba and come to the United States, was signed by the Dodgers for a few days to get his pension rights, Paige replied:

"But he don't count. He's not like me. They (presumably the owners) are afraid I might stir something up."

Paige was signed in 1948 by Bill Veeck, then owner of the Cleveland Indians, and later pitched for the St. Louis Browns and Kansas City Athletics.

When Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees hit his 500th homer a few weeks ago, he became the sixth man in history to enter the charmed circle. Others were: Babe Ruth (714), Willie Mays (547), Jimmy Fox (534), Ted Williams (521) and Mel Ott (511).

135th District Committee Urges Weltner To Run

The Executive committee of the 135th District Democratic Organization adopted a resolution last Thursday night urging former Congressman Charles L. Weltner to again seek the Democratic nomination for Congress from Georgia's Fifth District.

The resolution, presented by Fulton party vice-chairman Mrs. Lottie Watkins, read in part "...Whereas, former Congressman Charles L. Weltner has demonstrated to the world his true commitment to the principles of fair play and human dignity for mankind by resigning from the United States Congress rather than support a person identified with the cause of racial bigotry and anti-federalism.

"Now, therefore, be it resolved that we, the Executive Committee of the 135th District Democratic Organization do strongly encourage former Congressman Charles L. Weltner to offer himself to once again serve the 5th District of Georgia in the United States Congress."

Attorney Weltner, who withdrew from the Congressional race last year rather than pledge his support to the then Democratic gubernatorial nominee Lester Maddox, accepted the resolution with gratitude and expressed strong possibilities that he will indeed be a candidate for Congress in the 1968 Democratic Primary.

Weltner had high praise for State Representative Ben Brown of the 135th District as "a man highly respected in the Georgia Legislature and in Democratic circles across the country." He also praised the district officers and workers, along with Fulton County Democratic Chairman John Greer for "helping to put together a party in Georgia worthy of the name 'Democratic.'" County Chairman Greer was on hand to install the new district officers and precinct leaders. Mrs. Ruth Sturdevant was installed as district chairman.

Other officers and precinct leaders installed were Mrs. Eunice Cooper, district vice-chairman; Mr. Edgar Hillsman, district treasurer; Mrs. Margaret Guest, district treasurer; Mrs. Irma Williams, 7D chairman; Hillsman, co-chairman; Mrs. Irma Williams; Mrs. Marion Hill, secretary; Mrs. Lottie Watkins, 7E chairman; Mrs. and Mrs. Louise Bradley, secretary; 7N chairman Mrs. Lula Williams and co-chairman Mrs. Ella Mae Brayboy.

The installation program was held in the dining room of Smith's restaurant on Gordon Road, S. W.

qualified for this job, having won so many cases before the Supreme Court, having served as a federal judge and as a solicitor general of the United States. This is an appointment about which all of us can rejoice."

Attorney Howard Moore said, "It couldn't have happened to a nicer guy. I'm confident he will be a very able and distinguished justice."

"I think it's wonderful," Rev. J. A. Wilborn, pastor of Union Baptist Church exclaimed. "It's about time it was done and I believe Thurgood Marshall will make a fine justice."

H. L. Domineck, local businessman, greeted the appointment with, "Well, whaddya know!"

Dr. John A. Middleton, president of Morris Brown College, told the Inquirer, "He's a tremendously qualified man—an able justice."

Representative Julian Bond told the Inquirer, "I'm happy for him. It's about time. He may have a lot of trouble from Russell and Eastland in getting Senate confirmation, but he will make it."

"I'm very happy over the appointment," Representative William H. Alexander told the Inquirer. "It has been speculated for some time. This is a landmark appointment and I'm certain he will be confirmed by the Senate and do an outstanding job on the court."

From Atlanta University, Dr. Horace Mann Bond viewed the appointment as "a landmark decision. This is," he continued, "an expression of national recognition of respect and dignity of the Negro as an equal person."

Atlantan Named

Albany, Ga. -- Miss Doris H. Coleman, an assistant professor of English at Albany State College, has been invited to teach in Project Upward Bound at Norman College this summer.

A native of Atlanta, Ga., Miss Coleman will also be involved in the project's follow-up program which will meet on Saturdays during the fall.

Mobilizing Residents

relative to the city's next step regarding the area were unsuccessful.

Dr. Davis told the Inquirer, "The NAACP is supporting the rights of the people in the NASH-BANS area to make their own determination in how their neighborhood should be developed. I think the reaction of the people to the Mayor's program indicates that the NAACP is right on the position of housing that the NAACP has taken in recent months."

"This is the first indication that the city administration and the housing authority are interested in the welfare of people in poverty areas but, of course, you must realize that the law requires sanction from the local residents."

"This type of cooperation must be had not only in NASH-BANS, but throughout the city where public housing is proposed and urban renewal is to be utilized."

Mr. Laws said the recent controversy is not connected with the Vine City school situation, "although our people are deeply concerned about the school situation. What happened there at the meeting was the result of the proposal that was presented by city officials."

School Situation

In a related action connected with destruction of homes in Vine City, homeowners appeared in Federal court Wednesday to protest the location of a new junior high school in the area. Mrs. Precious Griggs, plaintiff in the case, has charged the Atlanta School Board is locating the school in the area to perpetuate a segregated school system.

Two sharp exchanges occurred between Attorney Howard Moore, defending the plaintiff, and A. C. Latimer, attorney for the school board. Moore, stating Atlanta has a prior history of practicing segregation in the schools, charged the city is trying to locate a school in the "heart of a black ghetto" and this is illegal. Latimer countered that "...it is none of his business where we place a school."

Alderman Q. V. Williamson, local real estate businessman, testified there are at least two other sites in the general area which would afford both Negroes and whites the opportunity to attend the new school.

Wren's Nest Still Segregated

has not gone unnoticed by the citizens of Atlanta. In the May 31 edition of the Atlanta Constitution a volunteer teacher, writing from Emory University that she was not permitted to take twelve Negro children into the "Hallowed Halls" of the Wren's Nest, opined that "obstacles are still being placed in the way of those (Negroes) who are attempting to expand their cultural horizons."

In the June 8 edition of the same newspaper, a letter addressed to the staff of the Wren's Nest said simply: "When that soldier gets back from Vietnam, I suggest that you do not tell him he cannot enter the Wren's Nest."

The June 10 edition provided the clincher. The letter referred to an Atlanta Constitution editorial for May 11, 1963, in which Joel Harris himself wrote: "There is no reason why any Southern man, woman, or child should have any prejudice against the Negro race. There is no ground for it, no excuse for it..."

Most Negro Youths Found To Be Headed For Trouble With Law

WASHINGTON -- Nine out of ten Negro city youths will be arrested at some time in their lives, according to a White House study.

President Johnson's Commission on Law Enforcement, which made the projection, said the figure was based on current arrest rates and "might even be conservative."

"At least 40 per cent of the male children living in the United States today will be arrested for a non-traffic offense sometime in their lives," the commission said.

For boys living in cities, the probability of arrest for a non-traffic offense is 60 per cent, according to the panel. For urban Negro youths, the probability is about 90 per cent.

The projections were contained in a 228-page report which outlined specific ways science and technology can be brought to bear on the nation's growing crime problem.

The report cited a Los Angeles study which showed that police have a far better chance of making an arrest if they get to the scene of the crime quickly.

The panel said police "response time" could be improved if:

-- Every patrolman was equipped with a real-life version of Dick Tracey's two-way wrist-radio.

-- Police callboxes were lighted and opened to the public so victims of a crime can report it quickly.

-- Gas stations, liquor stores, banks and other places highly susceptible to robbery were equipped with pocket radio transmitters which would be used to trigger a remote alarm.

The commission also suggested that radio or radar equipment be developed which would let police dispatchers keep track of the exact location of every patrol car.

This would enable the dispatcher to tell instantly which car was nearest to the scene of a crime.
